

Nepal 2012

Family & Friends,

Hey! I hope you are all doing well. As most of you know, I have been attending Azusa Pacific University (APU) in Azusa, California since the Fall of 2009. I'm currently studying Music with an emphasis in Church Music and Guitar. These past two and a half years have been an amazing time of growth both academically and spiritually for me. God has truly been working in my life, bringing about new spiritual disciplines and convictions as I pursue a role in full time ministry.

One of APU's values as a university is sending students out into the world in order to spread the vision of God's Global Church, as well as to help those in need. I've have been privileged with the opportunity to travel to Nepal and work with a non-profit organization called Tiny Hands International.

Tiny Hands works to further God's kingdom through helping the oppressed in Nepal. They work particularly with orphans and sex-trafficking victims, finding Christian homes for those who need them, and intercepting human traffickers at the Nepali borders.

I am very excited to work with Tiny Hands in whatever way they see fit. I will be gone for six weeks, from the end of May to around the first of July, along with nine other students on my team.

I write to ask for your support. Please pray for both my team and Tiny Hands as they work spread the Gospel message in Nepal. Pray for our hearts as we prepare to minister and be ministered to. Also, I hope some of you will consider supporting me financially. The cost of each student is around $3,000. I know this time of year can be stressful concerning finances, but any monetary support would be greatly appreciated. The easiest way to donate is online at www.apualumni.com/owmgive.

Thank you, and have a Merry Christmas!
Sincerely,

Andrew Pelt
